Description
education opportunities.
The Learning Centers strengthen the connection between student, school, parent and community, which is a key element in helping an at-risk child succeed in school and prepare for life. We had a 100% promotion rate for the 40+ elementary school-aged children enrolled in our after-school Learning Centers. All the children exhibited improved behaviors and either maintained or improved grades. Children First/Communities in Schools has two additional opportunities for afterschool enrichment, Eblen Working Warriors which serves 15 students and Deaverview Homework Club which serves 13 students.
4) In addition to direct services, Children First/CIS engages in public policy advocacy campaigns to build opportunity for children and families. Through education and outreach, Children First/CIS builds a community-based advocacy voice for our vulnerable children, youth, and their families. When our leaders create policies that are good for children, it leads to better health, education, and safety for our whole community. In order to address emerging needs, our public policy advocacy work is designated to be dynamic and flexible. The agenda, created by our success equation leadership team, includes campaigns that we believe can impact priority issues. Children First/CIS advocacy also partners with statewide organization/coalitions to move shared interests forward and increase our effectiveness and reach. We advocate for 100% of Buncombe County's children.
5) The family resource centers at Emma, Johnston, and Eblen improve the financial stability of families by providing emergency assistance for rent, utilities and medical expenses, ongoing case management, parenting classes and holiday assistance. These services are available to families at Estes Elementary, Johnston Elementary, Emma Elementary and the greater Emma Community. On average, the Family Resource Centers serve 300 families each year.
